

HENRIQUE GONÇALVES

THE SPORTY EXPLORER

A proud native of Portugal, Henrique is a curious person that grew up observing and exploring the world around him. His passion for engineering started at FEUP and after graduating, he was fortunate to find diverse experiences in his area of expertise, working in several specialties with different functions in various places. As of late, he has focused on a more managerial position and in order to expand his knowledge, enrolled in The Magellan MBA where he's been preparing himself to new challenges.

THE SPORTY EXPLORER

Canny.
Frank.
Aware.

Henrique knows how to shoot some hoops. Henrique has some mad skills. In his youth, he was sport fanatic, especially basketball, which he actually played at state level. This street basketball player also likes to play other things, namely strategy games and poker. Better not mess with his cards! Another surprising thing about Henrique is that while living in Angola, he discovered that running was a healthy form of escape. He then developed a craving for it and runs whenever he needs some thinking time. Henrique also loves pasta and cooking - we heard that his linguine nero with shrimp and sauce is pretty awesome.
