

Luís talks fast and with his hands

Born and raised in Viseu, in 2000 he graduated in Civil Engineering at Universidade da Beira Interior and started to work at the Mota-Engil Group. In 2013, he went to Malawi to participate in the Nacala Corridor Project, a challenging yet fulfilling project, mainly because of the distance and the clash of cultures. Homesick, Luís decided to return to Portugal to invest in himself, and in 2015, he enrolled in the Magellan MBA at Porto Business School.

Never let go of your inner child

This proud father of two has a cool secret. When he goes to the store to buy legos and people think it's for his kids, it's actually for him and his wife. Well, there's no shame in it, Luis. This makes you even cooler in our eyes. Besides legomania, Luis is a cannon ball that loves cycling, music, art and physics. Oh, and spending time with his family and dog.

“It never gets easier, you just go faster.”

Greg Lemond
