

Tiago always tries to see the big picture.

Born in Porto, Tiago started working as a professional trainer in computer science while taking a degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering at Faculty of Engineering of University of Porto. During his graduation, he studied in Italy for a year as an Erasmus student. Later, he started working at Siemens, then moved to Nokia Siemens Networks and finally to Coriant. In the nine years of professional experience, Tiago had the chance to interact with multicultural teams, working in multiple projects with colleagues from the US, Germany, Italy, Finland, Israel, China to name just a few. It also provided the opportunity to work with state of the art technology and products. In tandem during this period he continued to study, completing two post-graduations in Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energies and in Management for Executives.
